Hello from Crop Quest!

We are proud to announce that we are now corporate members of the Corn Producers Association of Texas. Crop Quest is a 100% independent and 100% employee owned agronomic consulting company. We were founded in 1992 and currently consult on over 1.5 million acres throughout the states of Texas, Kansas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Colorado, and Nebraska. Our agronomists consult on everything from row crops to specialty crops.

As members of CPAT, we would like to offer you a 50% discount on satellite imagery for the 2016 growing season. This will get you access to all the available images taken of your fields throughout the year. Whether you have dry land or irrigated farm ground, NDVI imagery can be an aid to your success in 2016.

The imagery you will receive will give you an enhanced view of your field. Thus, allowing you to find and address trouble areas as soon as possible and limit any potential yield loss. This view will also allow you to monitor in-field trials of inputs that you may have on your farm.

Be sure to take advantage of the historical imagery on one of your fields. We want to prove to you that you will get value out of the imagery before you make an investment with us.

Visit our website www.cropquest.com to see what other services you might be able to take advantage of. We look forward to working with you in 2016!
